Arlington, VA - Leadership Center for Excellence is accepting applications and holding information sessions for the Young Professionals Program Spring Class of 2018. The application has a rolling admission deadline until January 5, 2018 and may be found online at leadercenter.org.

The Young Professionals Program aims to develop leaders across the DC Metropolitan area throughout a four-month program. "I have seen firsthand the useful and applicable leadership skills that the Young Professionals Program teaches its participants," says Arlington County Sheriff Beth Arthur, member of the Leadership Center for Excellence Board of Regents. "My employees who participated in this program have shown incredible growth that has not only benefited their own careers, but positively affected our whole department. As Leadership Center for Excellence celebrates its 20th anniversary year, we are proud to offer programs that cater to leaders in different stages of their lives and careers. The Young Professionals Program is a true example of how we enlighten, inspire and connect emerging leaders through leadership development and training."

The Young Professionals Program consists of nine sessions geared toward leadership and networking with hands-on experimental learning. It also allows participants to foster relationships with prominent regional leaders. The program benefits its participants, their organizations and the community as a whole.
