Speaker Series Panel – Overcrowding in Our Schools

Arlington, VA - Leadership Arlington is offering a Speakers Series panel discussion on "Overcrowding in Our Schools."

From 2000 to 2012, Arlington County saw a 11.7 percent jump in its overall population, representing an additional 1,400 school-age children. Like a milk-guzzling teen, that number is projected to keep on growing. As overflowing classrooms are being pushed into trailers, Arlington County must make adjustments across the entire school division in order to continue to provide quality instruction. Join Leadership Arlington in this important community discussion about the factors that will impact our community's school system for decades to come.
